

Prof. Sun Yuqing

AD Hominem Fellowship of HKCOS 2018

Dr. Yuqing Sun is currently the Consultant Orthopaedic Surgeon, Vice Chief of Educational Department, Ji Shui Tan (JST) Hospital, Beijing. He completed his Master of Medical Science Degree in the Department of Clinical Medicine in the Medical University of Shandong in 1996 and obtained his Doctor of Clinical Medicine Degree in the Health Science Centre of Peking

University in 2004. He was a visiting fellow at the Shands Teaching Hospital at University of Florida under Dr. Mark T Scarborough and a visiting scholar at Mayo Clinic, Jacksonville, Florida in 2003. He is specialized in Orthopaedic Spine surgery and Oncology after finishing all his fellowship training.

Dr. Sun is keenly involved in teaching. He is engaged in different areas of training activities soon after his fellowship. He has been awarded as the excellent teacher of JST Hospital in 2005. He was presented with the first prize of orthopaedic teaching contest of JST Hospital in 2005 and second prize of the Fifth annual contest of basic teaching skill of young teacher of the Health Science Centre of Peking University in 2006. He was the Star of Science and Technology, Beijing Municipal Science and Technology Commission in 2016 as well as the excellent tutor award winner of the Health Science Centre of Peking University in 2017.

Among his many accomplishments and contribution in Beijing and Mainland China, Dr. Sun would certainly be acknowledged for his engagement to the collaboration between JST hospital and the Hong Kong College of Orthopaedic Surgeons (HKCOS) for the mainland orthopaedic training program since 2006. The JST-HKCOS orthopaedic training program has provided a platform for mainland trainees to undergo a structural pathway from basic to higher training. 72 JST trainees have been recruited since then and they were provided with the opportunity to go through the basic surgical training and higher orthopaedic training program in Hong Kong. Dr. Sun has been one of the key persons to supervise the logistic during the past 12 years. Training courses, tutorials were arranged and supported by Dr. Sun in JST hospital. Interflow between trainers of the HKCOS and JST hospital is paved under his coordination. Most of these trainees had undergone the Hong Kong Intercollegiate Board of Surgical Colleges (HKICBSC) examination and 12 of them were conferred the Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh in Orthopaedics, whom so far, are the only mainland candidates who could complete the whole fellowship training program under the umbrella of Hong Kong Academy of Medicine and the HKCOS. Dr. Sun is currently the examiner of the HKICBSC examination in Hong Kong.

Mr. President, I would like to present to you Professor Yuqing Sun for the Ad Hominem Fellowship of the Hong Kong College of Orthopaedic Surgeons.